Obtaining affordable private insurance and adequate coverage for therapies, home care and other health related services are the two most pressing problems faced by Wyoming families. Families also report that they often do not have private insurance but their incomes make them ineligible for Medicaid or Children's Health Services; therapists often have a limited amount of time to see a child in home or at school; and that it is very difficult to find and keep home care. Family Voices of Wyoming is housed at the Wyoming Family Support Network, where our work is all volunteer-based and is "piggy-backed" with other events and tasks. Fortunately, the number of people receiving the newsletter has increased.
